

LRTS 1995 Referees

A scholarly journal relies on the use of expert, volunteer peer reviewers, or referees, who contribute their time, energy, and professional expertise to ensure the accuracy, relevance, timeliness, and importance of the research reported. The people whose names appear below, to whom we offer our unqualified thanks, reviewed manuscripts submitted to LRTS in 1995.—Editor

Willy Cromwell, Stanford University
 Carol Pitts Diedrichs, Ohio State University
 Jeanne Drewes, University of Michigan
 John Duke, Virginia Commonwealth University
 Tamara Weintraub Frouin, National Library of Medicine
 Janet Gertz, Columbia University
 William Gosling, University of Michigan
 Susan Hayes, New York University
 Robert Holley, Wayne State University
 October Ivins, Louisiana State University
 Jay Lambrecht, University of Illinois at Chicago
 Gregory H. Leazer, University of California, Los Angeles
 Bonnie MacEwan, Pennsylvania State University
 Carol Mandel, Columbia University
 James Mason, Kansas State University
 Gillian McCombs, State University of New York, Albany
 Joyce McDonough, Columbia University
 Dorothy McGarry, Los Angeles
 Lorraine Olley, Indiana University
 John Riemer, University of Georgia
 Margaret Rohdy, University of Pennsylvania
 Carlen Ruschoff, Georgetown University
 C. Anthony Schwartz, University of Massachusetts–Boston
 Charles Simpson, State University of New York, Stony Brook
 Regina Sinclair, Johns Hopkins University
 Sally Somers, Tulane University
 Joan Swanekamp, Columbia University
 Anne Swartzell, University of California, Berkeley
 David H. Thomas, University of Pittsburgh
 D. Kathryn Weintraub, Chicago
 James Bradford Young, University of Pennsylvania