Peggy Johnson

I am delighted to announce that “Approaches to Selection, Access, and Collection Development in the Web World: A Case Study with Fugitive Literature,” by Karen Schmidt, Wendy Allen Shelburne, and David Steven Vess, received both the Best of LRTS Award and the Blackwell’s Scholarship Award at the 2009 American Library Association Annual Conference in Chicago.<sup>1</sup>

This last issue in volume 53 marks a transition in the membership of the LRTS editorial board. I want to thank those members who are leaving the board after Annual Conference for their service:

- Yvonne C. Carignan (Historical Society of Washington, D.C., Library): Preservation and Reformatting Section representative
- Magda A. El-Sherbini (Ohio State University Libraries): Member at large
- Shirley J. Lincicum (Western Oregon University Hamersly Library): Member at large

Four new members will be joining the board:

- Elise Calvi: Preservation and Reformatting Section representative
- Leslie Czechowski (University of Pittsburg Health Sciences Library): Intern
- Birdie McLennan (University of Vermont Libraries): Member at large
- Elaine L. Westbooks (University of Nebraska-Lincoln Libraries): Member at large

The following members will continue to serve on the board:

- Kristin A. Antelman (North Carolina State University Libraries): Cataloging and Classification Section representative
- Stephen J. Bosch (University of Arizona Library): Acquisitions Section representative
- Allyson Carlyle (University of Washington Information School): Serials Section representative
- Mary F. Casserly (State University of New York-Albany): Collection Management and Development Section representative

- Carlen Ruschoff (University of Maryland Libraries): member at large
- Sarah Simpson (Tulsa City-County Library System): Virtual member

- Edward Swanson (University of Minnesota MINITEX)—Book Reviews editor
- Mary Beth Weber (Rutgers University Libraries)—Ex-Officio member

In addition, I wish to recognize those who are essential to producing the issues that arrive in your mailboxes every month: Tim Clifford, our production editor, and the rest of the staff at ALA Production Services, and Christine Taylor, our ALCTS staff liaison. Of course, we would not have a journal without contributing authors or book reviewers. If a paper or review engages you, send the author or authors a note. Their e-mail addresses are published with their papers. Letters to the editor are always welcome. I hope you will have an opportunity to thank your colleagues listed here for their important contributions to the continuing success of Library Resources and Technical Services.
