SELECTED RESOURCES

Biblio Tech Review: News Analysis and Comment. (www.biblio-tech.com). Edited by Peter Evans. The Web-only publication provides a U.K. perspective of the library automation industry and significant coverage of the U.S. market.

Breeding, Marshall; Roddy, Carol. "Automated System Marketplace 2003: The Competition Heats Up." Reed Business Information. Library Journal 128:6 (April 1, 2003) 52-64.

Breeding, Marshall. "Automated System Marketplace 2002: Capturing the Migrating Customer." Reed Business Information. Library Journal 127:6 (April 1, 2002) 48-60.

Library Systems Newsletter. American Library Association. 1981-2003. This newsletter, published monthly by ALA since 1981, chronicles the library automation industry with detailed news stories about companies and products.

Library Technology Guides: Key Resources and Content Related to Library Automation. (www.librarytechnology.org) Edited by Marshall Breeding. This website hosts an archive of news releases from each of the major library automation companies since the mid-1990s and includes a bibliography focused on library technology issues and a directory of companies and products. The lib-web-cats component of Library Technology Guides serves as an online directory of libraries with the ability to identify the current and previous ILS used by most of the 10,000 libraries listed.

Waller, Nichole. "Model RFP for Integrated Library System Products." ALA TechSource. Library Technology Reports 39:4 July-August 2003.

Cumulative index

The Library Technology Reports' cumulative index is now available at www.techsource.ala.org.